Just 10 - the first evening

On Thursday evening 14 people meet together to start the Just 10 course. After tea, coffee and cake, we went into church to watch a short video by J. John, which looked at the 10th commandment 'Do not covet' and J. John's talk had the title 'How to Find True Contentment'.

We then returned to the hall and broke into small groups to discuss the video, with the help of prompt questions on a hand out. It was lovely to be able to hear each other's thoughts, and one group even started singing a hymn together (well those in the group who knew it).

Thanks to Dave and James for leading the evening.

THE PATHWAY OF LOVE

What would you do today
To help someone along the way?
Helping that lady get off the bus
Whose in pain with her arthritis?

Smiling at someone in the street
Looking sad and needing food to eat?
Go get them a roll and cup of tea
And a kind word...or two...or three.

That person with not enough to pay
At the till...pay the rest...make their day.
Buy some flowers and break them up
Give to those down on their luck.

Let's try to see what we miss each day
And help those people along the way.
Praying God will guide us from above
As we walk along the pathway of love.

Last week my neighbour, who is in great pain, was alone on the local bus which stops outside my house and I saw the driver get out of his seat and go and help her up and off the bus and even across the road to her house at the back of mine. I was so touched by this that I wrote the poem above and thought I would share it.
